How Baseballs Are Made.

The evolution of the modern baseball and its manufacture are the subject of an interesting, illustrated article in the August number of Popular Mechanics Magazine. It says:

"Outwardly the ten-cent ball bears a close resemblance to the dollar ball, but, as every boy knows, there is a vast difference in the life and durability of the two spheres. The center of the cheap ball is made of ground up carpet rags closely pressed into a core by machinery. Over this core string is wound—a very little string compared to the quantity used in winding one of the professional league balls—and then the unfinished article is sent to the room where the women sewers put the cover on, the seam being done together by hand."

"But the league ball is a very different product. In the first place, the construction of this ball has been undergoing an evolution for years. At the present time there is much complaint from some who would have few runs and a quick game, on account of the way in which the batters are hitting this new cork-center ball. The complaint is heard that the ball is too fast and runs too frequently. The explanation of the experts is that a ball hit on the ground with the new ball is no faster than with the old one, but that a ball hit in the air goes farther, thus accounting for the great number of extra-base hits made in recent years."

"Some years ago, the balls were made with rubber centers. Then, in response to a demand for more runs to make the game interesting to the spectators, the experiment was tried of making a ball with a small piece of cork in the center, in the heart of the rubber core. This produced a little of the desired effect, and every year from that time the relative sizes of the rubber and the cork in the center of the spheres has been changed until the present fast ball was evolved."

How to Be Welcome.

If you want to keep your welcome at the cottage by the lake, you must be a host.

When you expect to spend a week-end with your friends, you must be a host.

If you wish to keep your welcome do not do it.

Put the fancy clothes away. And keep busy every day.

See the housework to be done and buckle to it.

Though the hostess tells you kindly, "Never mind the dishes now."

I will do them in a jiffy," don't believe her; Grab the towel or the dishpan, if you have to start a row.

Should you take her at her word it's sure to grieve her.

Will she take her word indeed, if you settle down to read on the porch while she is struggling with the dishes?

Oh, get busy with a broom, dust and sweep up the room.

Disregard in this respect your hostess's wishes. Should her hubby say to you, "I will take you for a row."

While she's getting dinner ready," bear in mind That if hostess in the kitchen if you should get up and go.

Will be saying things about you most unkind. Just decline his invitation.

With the simple explanation, "With the dinner I insist on helping Jane."

Don't go boasting while she's toiling in the kitchen, stewing, mulling.

If you don't ever ask her there again. When you get up in the morning very promptly make your bed.

Do not leave it for your hostess kind to do. Do the dusting, do the sweeping, tie a towel around your head.

And get busy or she'll have no use for you. Never wear your clothing hasty.

Press in something old and messy. Do not pay too much attention to the men. If you loaf around the shack.

She'll be glad when you go back. And she'll never, never ask you up again.

"Outwardly the ten-cent ball bears a close resemblance to the dollar ball, but, as every boy knows, there is a vast difference in the 'life' and durability of the two spheres. The center of the cheap ball is made of ground up carpet rags closely pressed into a core by machinery. Over this core string is wound—a very little string compared to the quantity used in winding one of the professional league balls—and then the unfinished article is sent to the room where the women sewers put the cover on, the seam being drawn together by hand."

"But the league ball is a very different product. In the first place, the construction of this ball has been undergoing an evolution for years. At the present time there is much complaint from some who would have few runs and a quick game, on account of the way in which the batters are hitting this new cork-center ball. The complaint is heard that the ball is too fast and runs too frequent. The explanation of the experts is that a ball hit on the ground with the new ball is no faster than with the old one, but that a ball hit in the air goes farther, thus accounting for the great number of extra-base hits made in recent years."

"Some years ago, the balls were made with rubber centers. Then, in response to a demand for more runs to make the game interesting to the spectators, the experiment was tried of making a ball with a small piece of cork in the center, in the heart of the rubber core. This produced a little of the desired effect, and every year from that time the relative sizes of the rubber and the cork in the center of the spheres has been changed until the present fast ball was evolved."

Postoffice Robbery.

Tuesday night at about two o'clock Postmaster James L. Boker of Bryant's Pond was aroused by M. C. Allen, a neighbor, who had discovered a light in the postoffice.

A dance had been in progress in the postoffice building and it was nearly one o'clock when the light was closed. Two dogs, which are kept nights in Andrews' store across the street, made such an outcry that Mark Allen, who lives over the store, got up and on investigation noticed a light in the postoffice.

Mr. Boker and his son Elmer, aged 21, the assistant postmaster, immediately hurried to the scene, going between the Andrews & Andrews store and Mr. Allen's house. As they came around the corner of the house facing the postoffice two men standing in front of the building opened fire with revolvers and Mr. Boker was shot through the thigh but not seriously injured. The robbers, of whom there appeared to be four or five finally ran and were quickly lost in the darkness.

Soon after the shooting the explosion of the safe took place and after getting hold of some sixty dollars in stamps these gentlemen departed in haste. Men were soon on their trail but they got into the thick woods south of the village.

The village by this time was aroused and a hunt was made for the robbers which was ineffective. Examination of the postoffice showed entrance had been secured by prying open the door and the safe was blown.

The office had been broken open with tools taken from the quarry. Sheriff W. A. Bicham of Norway and Harry D. Cole of South Paris were telephoned to and they immediately left in their autos. Four men who attempted to leave on the early train Wednesday morning were arrested as suspicious characters. Postoffice Inspector Jennings arrived and is making an investigation.

SAVED FROM AN OPERATION

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Peoria, Ill.—"I wish to let every one know what Lydia E. Pinkham's remedies have done for me. For two years I suffered. The doctors said I had tumors, and the only remedy was the surgeon's knife. My mother bought me Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and today I am a healthy woman. For months I suffered from inflammation and your Sanative Wash relieved me. Your Liver Pills have no equal as a cathartic. Any one wishing proof of what your medicines have done for me can get it from any druggist or by writing to me. You can use my testimonial in any way you wish, and I will be glad to answer letters."—Mrs. CHRISTINA REED, 105 Mound St., Peoria, Ill.

Another Operation Avoided. New Orleans, La.—"For years I suffered from severe female troubles. Finally I was confined to my bed and the doctor said an operation was necessary. I gave Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial first, and was saved from an operation."—Mrs. LILY PEYRON, 1111 Kerlerec St., New Orleans, La.

The great volume of unsolicited testimony constantly pouring in proves conclusively that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a remarkable remedy for those distressing feminine ills from which so many women suffer.

WEST FRYEBURG.

A Hair Breadth Escape.

A hair breadth escape from a fatal accident occurred Tuesday when Andrew Hill of Fryeburg was thrown from a carriage driven by his nephew, Clifton Hill, in front of the automobile in which were Mr. Fox and wife.

Mr. Hill was near to a stop just in time to avoid driving over the prostrate body of Mr. Hill who received a severe shaking up. Mr. Fox carried him to the home of Almon Hill of Green Hill where he was a guest.

Mr. Hill returned to Fryeburg, Friday with a lame back and leg and sprained wrist as souvenirs of a summer outing and feeling fortunate that he escaped with his life.

Mr. Hill is a veteran of the Civil War and is a brother of David B. Hill of this place and of S. W. Hill of Green Hill, N. H.

B. Walker McKee and son Ellis are at the parental home, now the home of Harold McKee and family.

A change of note has taken place in the transfer of the mill property from E. F. McIntire to Lloyd Stevens, a former West Fryeburg young man and his wife, the daughter of an old and esteemed resident of the place. We mean old only in the sense of long time residence, since Mr. Andrews has many years before him prosperous and pleasant as all hope.

Mr. and Mrs. Stevens and their daughter are at the ancestral home at present.

The Stirling Literary club met on Wednesday July 19 at the home of D. A. Ballard, from the veranda of which sheltered from the afternoon sun an outlook was afforded across an extended range of scenic views in the town of Fryeburg and by request Mrs. Pleasant.

A gentle breeze tempered the heat of a typical midsummer day and there was a good attendance including several guests.

By special request the hostess, Miss Ballard, read the selection from the Bay View magazine descriptive of the city of Pittsburg, Pa., which those who were not present at the previous meeting desired to hear.

Mrs. Charles Andrews read the interesting story of the history of the United States and by request Mrs. Heiman's Landing of the Pilgrims was read by Mrs. Elmer Walker, and an amusing sketch of the common life of the people in the early days of the Republic. At four p. m. adjournment was made to September 6.
